

George Torres

Professor

Tucson, AZ 12345 | (520) 555-0142 | d.reyes@email.com

Profile

Adjunct instructor teaching introductory English composition and literature across two community colleges in Pima County. Strong record of retention in first-year writing courses and active in the regional Two-Year College English Association.

Professional Experience

Adjunct Instructor, English | Sagebrush Community College, Tucson, AZ 2022 – Present

- Teach 4 sections of ENG 101 and 1 section of ENG 215 (American Literature) each semester, roughly 110 students per term
- Hold weekly writing-center hours; designed a low-stakes revision workflow that lifted pass rates in ENG 101 from 71% to 84%
- Adopted an open educational resource textbook for ENG 101, saving students about $90 per enrolled seat
- Serve on the part-time faculty advisory council representing humanities adjuncts

Adjunct Lecturer, Writing | Catalina Hills College, Tucson, AZ 2020 – Present

- Teach evening sections of developmental writing for working adult learners
- Co-developed a hybrid course module combining in-person workshops with asynchronous video feedback
- Mentor incoming adjunct hires through the college's peer-teaching observation program

Education

MA, English Literature, Arizona State University, 2019

BA, English, University of New Mexico, 2016

Key Skills

- First-year composition pedagogy
- Developmental writing
- Canvas and Blackboard LMS
- Rubric design
- Open educational resources
- Hybrid course delivery
- Peer review workshops